

NOWHERE HOME

Join us for our exclusive screening of acclaimed human rights film "Nowhere Home" by Norwegian director Margreth Olin to raise money for (our nominated charity,) Save the Children.

This film considers the plight of unaccompanied minors seeking asylum in Norway only to be returned to their country of origin. The film draws significant parallels to the issue of Australia's approach to the treatment of children seeking asylum here. The film debuts in Australia at our film night after appearing in various European human rights film festivals, including the Human Rights Watch Film Festival in London.
